

Sydney Café

Shapeshifting your story, with Anna Harper

Saturday 25 July 2015, 2:00 – 4:30 pm
Stanton Library, Level 2, 234 Miller St, North Sydney

Anna Harper, Cultural Shapeshifters, leadership advisor
and systems change
agent

"You are the answer to the questions that you are asking" – Craig Gibsone, community elder

Is the answer the one you want? Is this the story you need, that society needs?

In this session we will look at how asking questions can shape our story, the story we are living, and how we can shapeshift ourselves to embolden, enhance, refine or re-envision our story to truly support the legacy we want.

We live in a time of "deep change". Holding your truth, whilst letting go of that which no longer serves you, takes courage. This is true of individuals and organisations.

Anna's work is designed to purposefully challenge you to "think better" beyond the known, the "tried and true", to expand horizons.

Price: $35 Non-Members; $25 Members (2015-2016)

What is shapeshifting? It is the capacity to shift the shape of an individual's story and that of the collective through transitions. In essence, it is about purposeful change through purposeful shifting.

Register online at:
www.slam.org.au